SUMMARY:

Based on the analysis of the pie charts, the majority of students (54%) believe that the teachers possess an excellent command over the subject matter, with 36% expressing a good or satisfactory level. Regarding the coverage of the syllabus during classes, 46% of students find it to be uniformly satisfactory. The utilization of teaching aids has garnered predominantly positive responses, with over 70% of students rating it as very good or above. Furthermore, 78% of students consider the evaluation procedure to be excellent.

The commitment of the faculty has received positive feedback from most students, which is recognized as a valuable contribution to their academic performance. However, there are some areas identified for improvement based on student feedback. The accessibility aspect was reported as unsatisfactory, while the preparedness and presentation were rated as satisfactory.

In summary, the feedback indicates a generally positive perception of teachers' subject matter expertise, satisfactory syllabus coverage, and the utilization of teaching aids. The commitment of the faculty is seen as beneficial to students' academic performance. However, improvements are needed in terms of accessibility, as well as enhancing preparedness and presentation skills.

The analysis of feedback from our alumni revealed compelling insights. A significant 71% of alumni expressed their satisfaction with the programs offered at our institution, rating them as excellent. They emphasized the value of the fundamental knowledge they gained during their course, which they found to be exceptional in equipping them with the skills to analyze complex problems. Impressively, 74% of alumni reported that they are effectively addressing health, ethical, and relevant issues in their work, showcasing the practical application of their education.

Furthermore, 46% of alumni highlighted the excellence of their participation in social and welfare activities, demonstrating their active engagement in community initiatives. However, there is room for improvement in regulatory compliance, as only 20% felt they were able to follow current guidelines in an excellent manner. Nonetheless, a majority of 56% of alumni students overall expressed their satisfaction, acknowledging the excellent training they received at our institution.

The suggestions given by few alumni are to make students involve in social activities, guest lectures can be arranged on developing technology, higher studies information can be provided, more encouragement to participate in competitions.
